Hart County Fiscal Court

The Hart County Fiscal Court held its October meetings at the Hart County High School to provide students with insight into county government. Students had the opportunity to hear from various community members and their special projects. Hart County Animal Shelter announced the release of its new website and encouraged students to check it out and sign up to volunteer. Additionally, Judge Executive Choate shared the news about the purchase of land behind the school and expressed excitement for future plans.

Fiscal Court meetings are held twice monthly, and community members are encouraged to attend.

State Representative Courtney Gilbert addressed the students and offered her advice of getting more involved in local government.

Principal Greg Cecil encouraged students to ask questions and expand their knowledge of county government.
